Face-to-Face with Online Therapy

The most active online therapy connects:

-  Real-time improvement tracking
-  The assistance of a highly competent therapist
-  A content library of the same evidence-based exercises that a therapist would use onsite, including audio-visuals, worksheets, flashcards and games
-  A reliable, video-conferencing platform

Online therapy is the delivery of speech therapy and counselling services
over the web

Is online therapy as good as face-to-face?

The online approach is face-to-face; the expressions are just on the screen.

Some of the evidence-based studies show the effectiveness of online speech therapy and counselling with Manovikas eGyanshala.

Students are highly involved with their therapists and the individualized exercises and attention they experience and improve faster than the average.

How to evaluate development online?

Online evaluations are adequate and useful by tools available on Manovikas eGyanshala

Is it only beneficial for young students?

Online therapy is helpful for the all-inclusive majority of students, despite condition or limitation. It is working with students who have articulation problems as well as those on the autism spectrum or who have more severe conditions including apraxia, Down syndrome and cerebral palsy.

While evidence-based studies have shown online therapy to be as effective as onsite, it can be even better when:

-  A student needs a specialist that isn't available in the COVID-19 situation.
-  A student feels isolated and deprived while regular therapist support is disturbed
-  Flexibility is required to work around a student's and family's home-based schedule

However, online therapy may not be the right option for students who have difficulty focusing for more than five minutes or who have difficulty following directions. Online counselling is not recommended for students who are a flight risk, suicidal and who are a threat to themselves or others.

How to avail Online Therapy?

Online therapy can be delivered in your bedroom, drawing room, study room, libraries and any other space where distractions are limited, and the student can focus on the mobile or computer screen. Only need internet services.

What are the elements used?

Online therapists and counsellors use the related sets of materials they would use if they were seeing a student onsite, including multimedia, flashcards, video games, story cards, board games, videos, manipulatives and curriculum-based activities.

How is privacy secure in online therapy?

Manovikas eGyanshala meets all security requirements by following users authentications guidelines. No one can enter the online therapy “room” besides the student, and their parents or caregivers and therapist without permission. The same privacy and confidentiality requirements bound therapists and counsellors as they are in an onsite setting.

Universal Design

Our team understand and assess the needs and requirements of the family and persons with IDD after brief person-centred planning (PCP).

MANOVIKAS eGYANSHALA is presenting in UNIVERSAL MODULE more than one way, including text, audio and hands-on formats. We encourage teachers to offer different test formats, including oral presentations and group projects, to get a more accurate picture of what students know. MANOVIKAS eGYANSHALA also looks for different ways to keep students motivated.
